MEMORIES OF DAYS GONE BY

As the years in high school pass, many different things happen to everyone. The yearbook tries to show just a few of those happenings. The yearbook will also bring back memories of those good and bad happenings. Many years from now you'll look back in this yearbook and wonder where all that time went and how so much happened.

High School years are the best times of your life. Maybe during those years you didn't think so, but when your last year gets here you realize how much fun you've really had.

STUDENT LIFE

What's in that cup Mark Carter?

We want you out of here freshmen! says the Super Seven.

"I wonder who that is behind the wheel? I hope they d drive!"

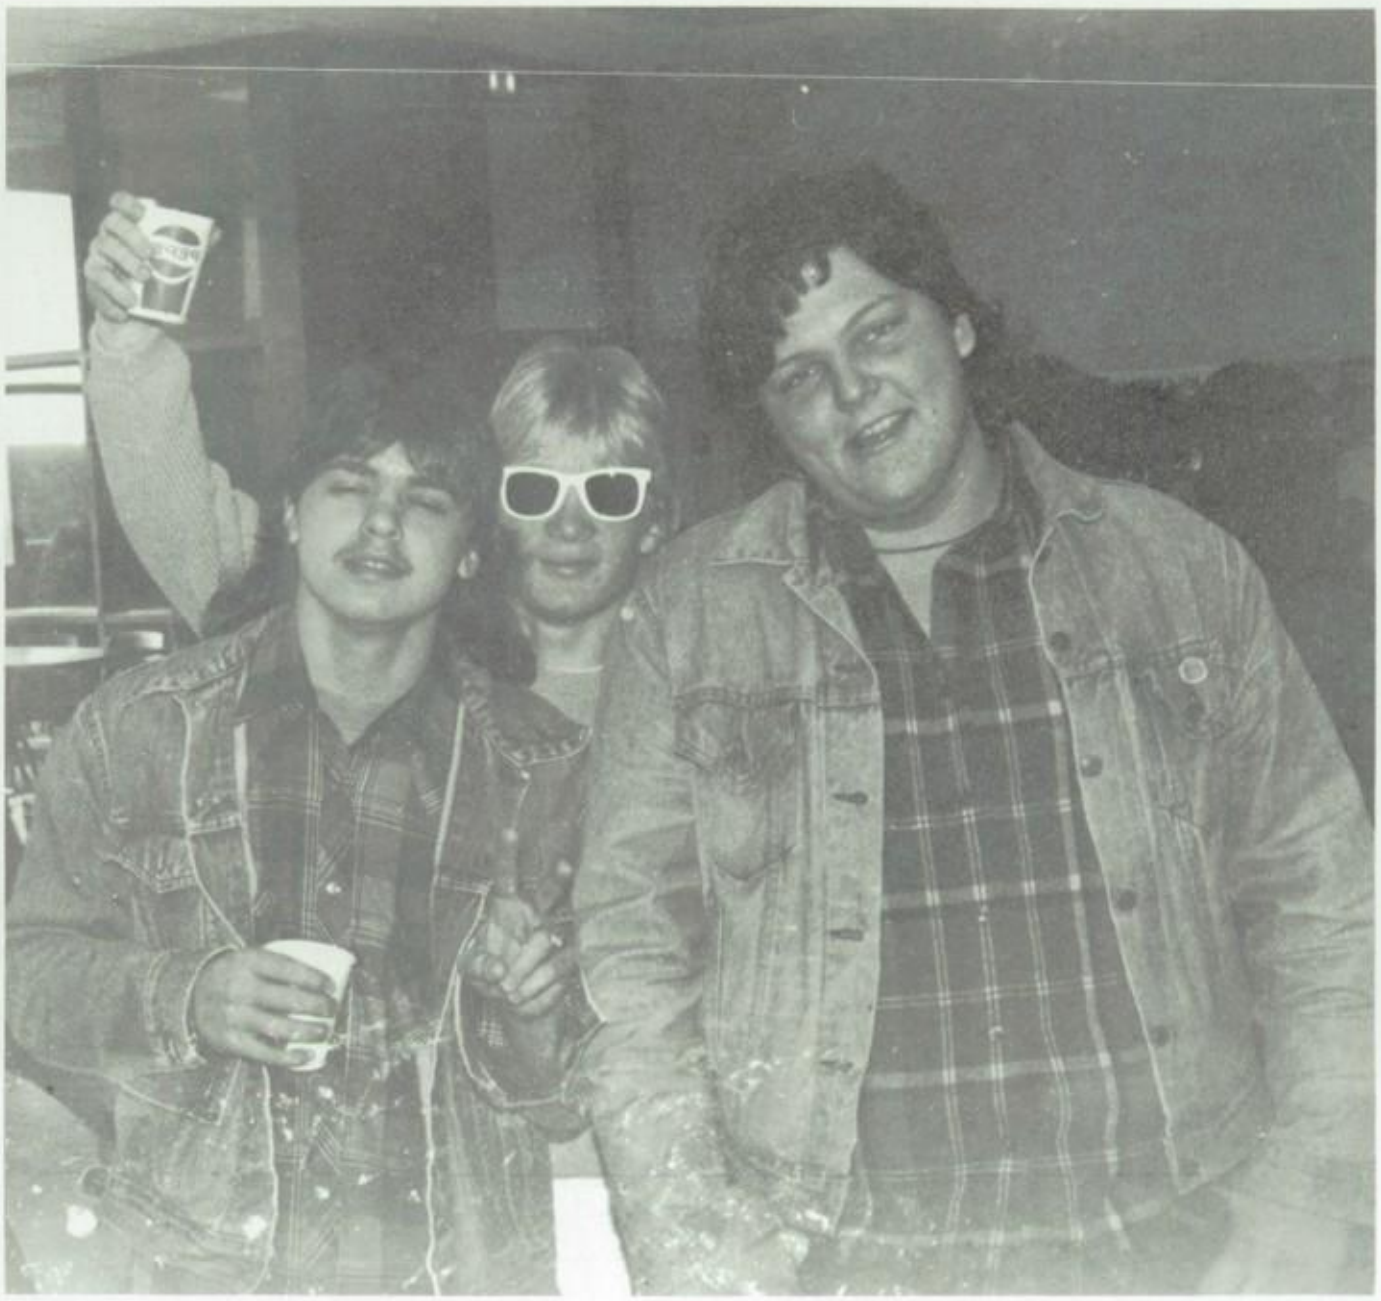
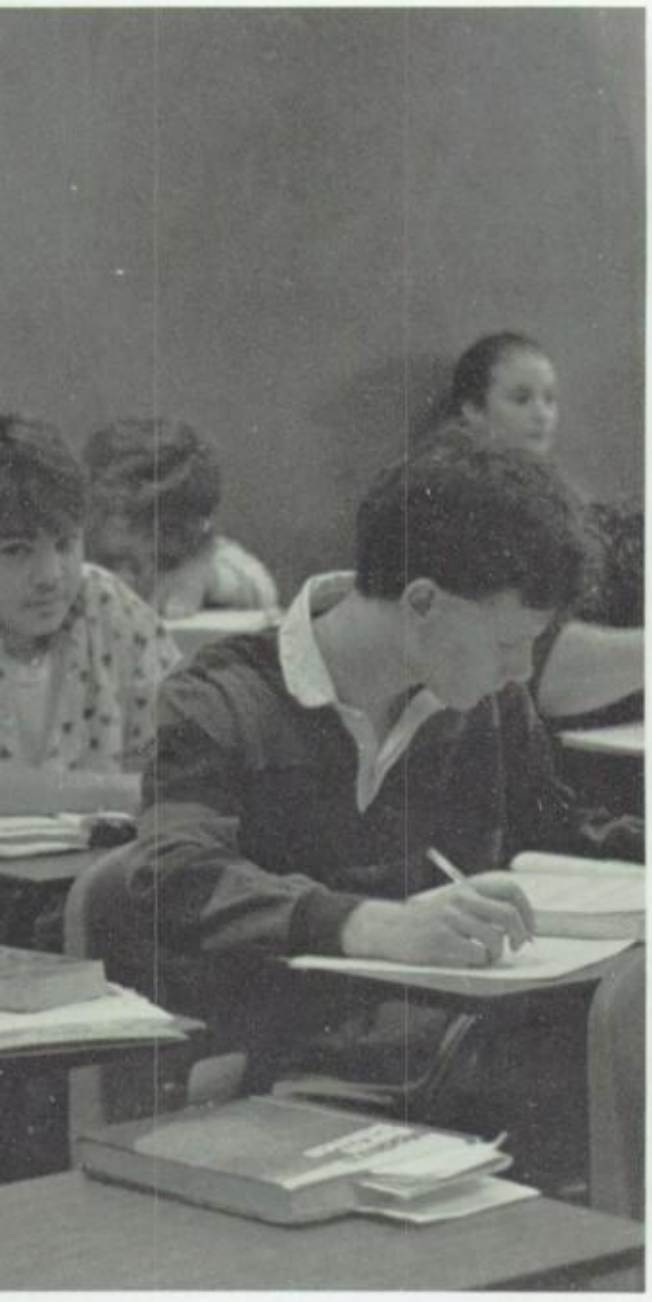
Boy do these students look excited about being in class.



I wonder what these three fine gentlemen are up to?

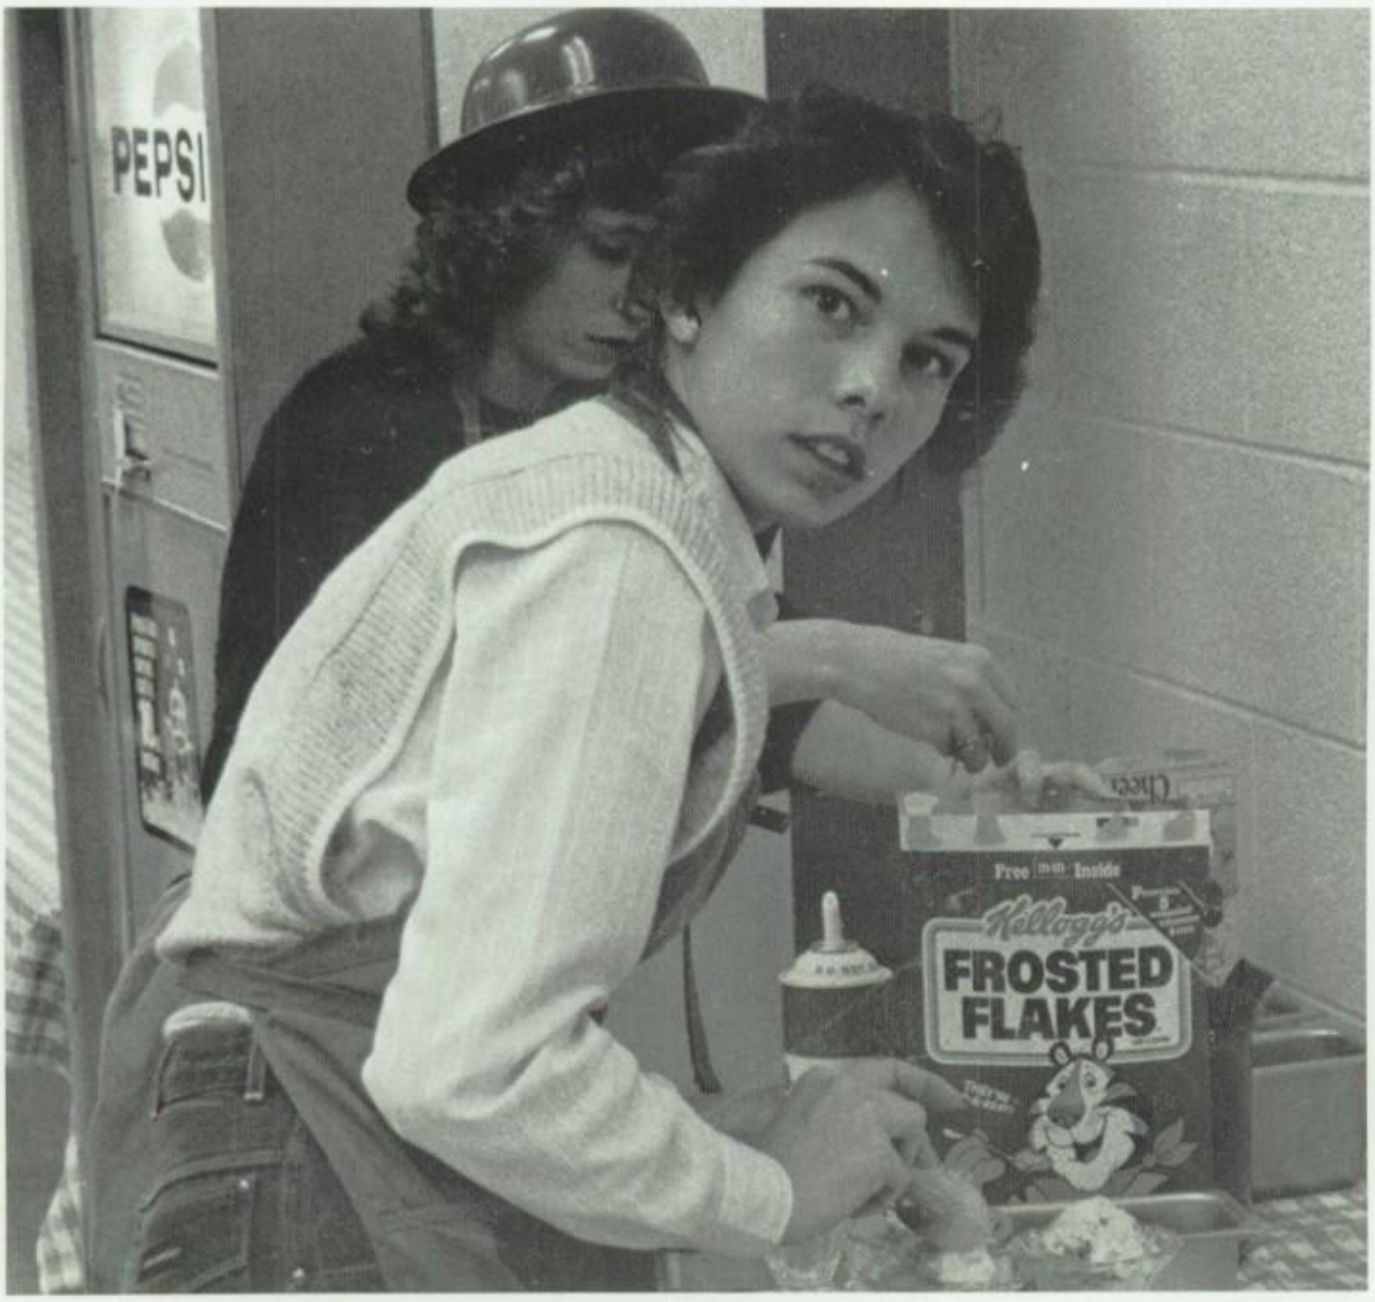


Look! There's Mama Hart with some of her many children.

PARTY BUT DON'T LET THE GRADES DROP

Dragging yourself from bed Monday morning after the party-hearty weekend, is just the start of the roller coaster week to come. Tuesday, you fail the test you studied two hours for the night before. Hump Day — and the same boring cafeteria food, is what Wednesday has in store for us. Will Friday ever get here? But huff and puff running to class Thursday so you won't receive the threaded fifth tardy. But alas, Friday is here and the 3:10 bell rings. Free at last. These are just a few of the problems, pressures, ups and downs we all encounter each day, every week, of this long school year. But when Friday finally reaches us, all the work seem worth it. Whether its the football game, going to the movie, or just being with friends, our main goal seems to be having a good time.

When at last that long awaited, last day of school finally gets here, the year doesn't seem quite so long or monotonous, or as hard and tiring as we thought it was. You find yourself reflecting back on the fun, the accomplishments, the good times, instead of the rejections, the let downs, and the depressing moments we all face. As you look back, you realize you've made it and it was worth it. So let's get down and PARTY.



We know you only brought those Frosted Flakes for the freee M & M's inside.

These students greet the teachers as they start another day.

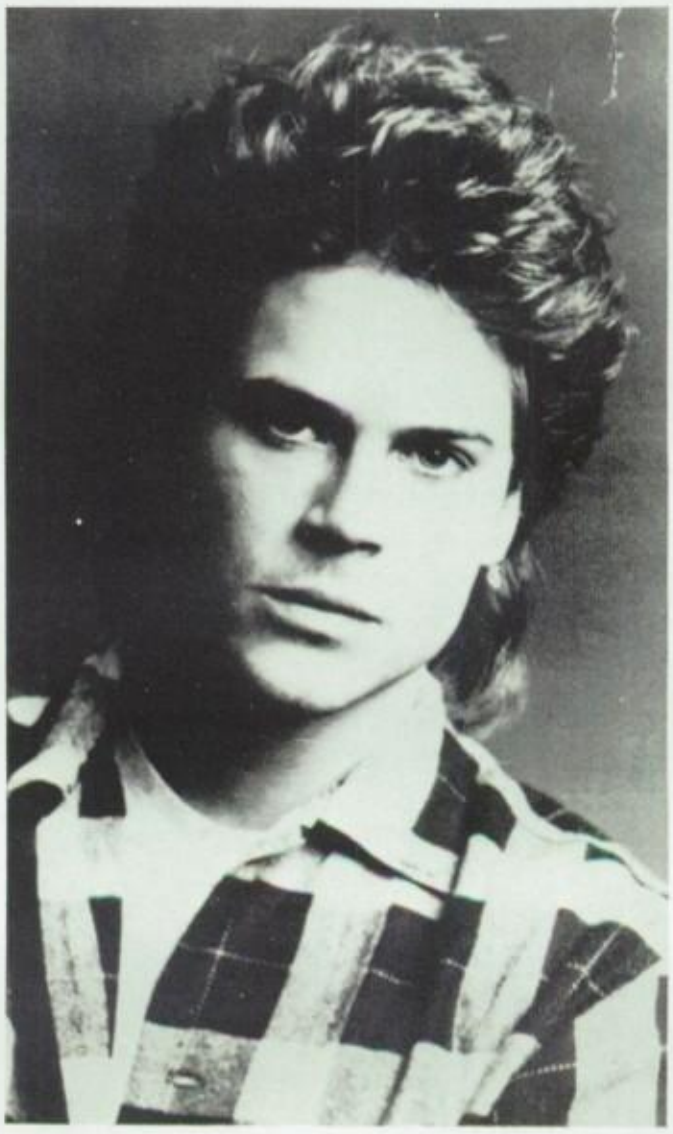
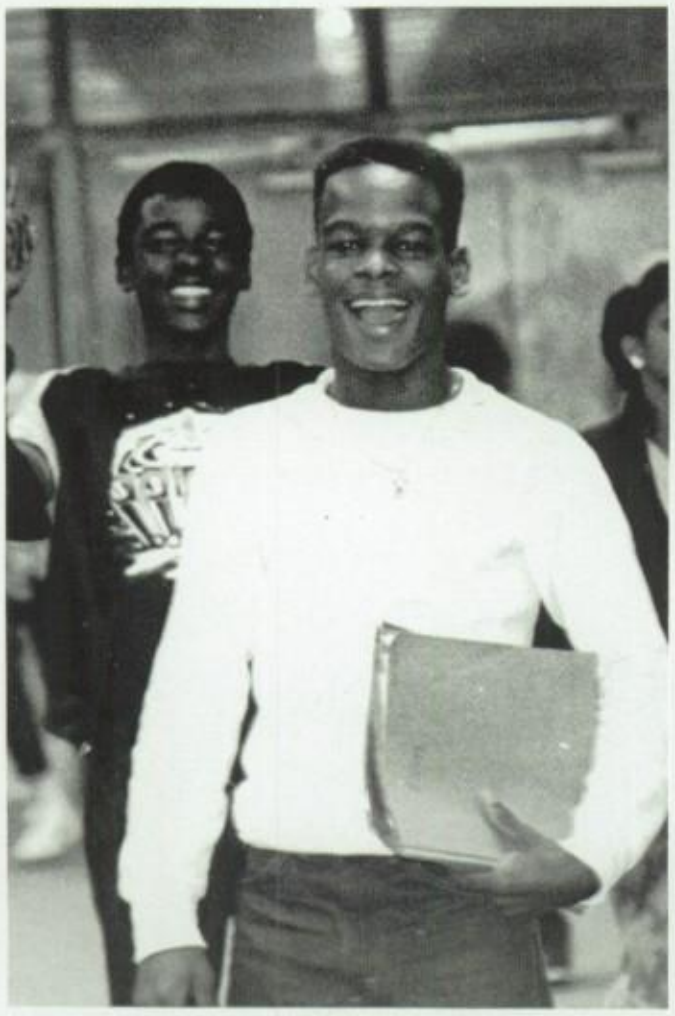
The annual one-act play this year included Claire Guyton and Stefan Henderson.



One of the year's top performers is Rob Lowe, a heartthrob of LCHS teens.



Getting a laugh between classes is Ricky Johnson and his friends.

FFA members show their spirit by riding on the float.

Hey! Doesn't that look like Mark Carter's feet?

Renita Thurston and her date tell the latest gossip to hinking about who he can get his Advanced Math omework from is Richard Morris, deep in thought.

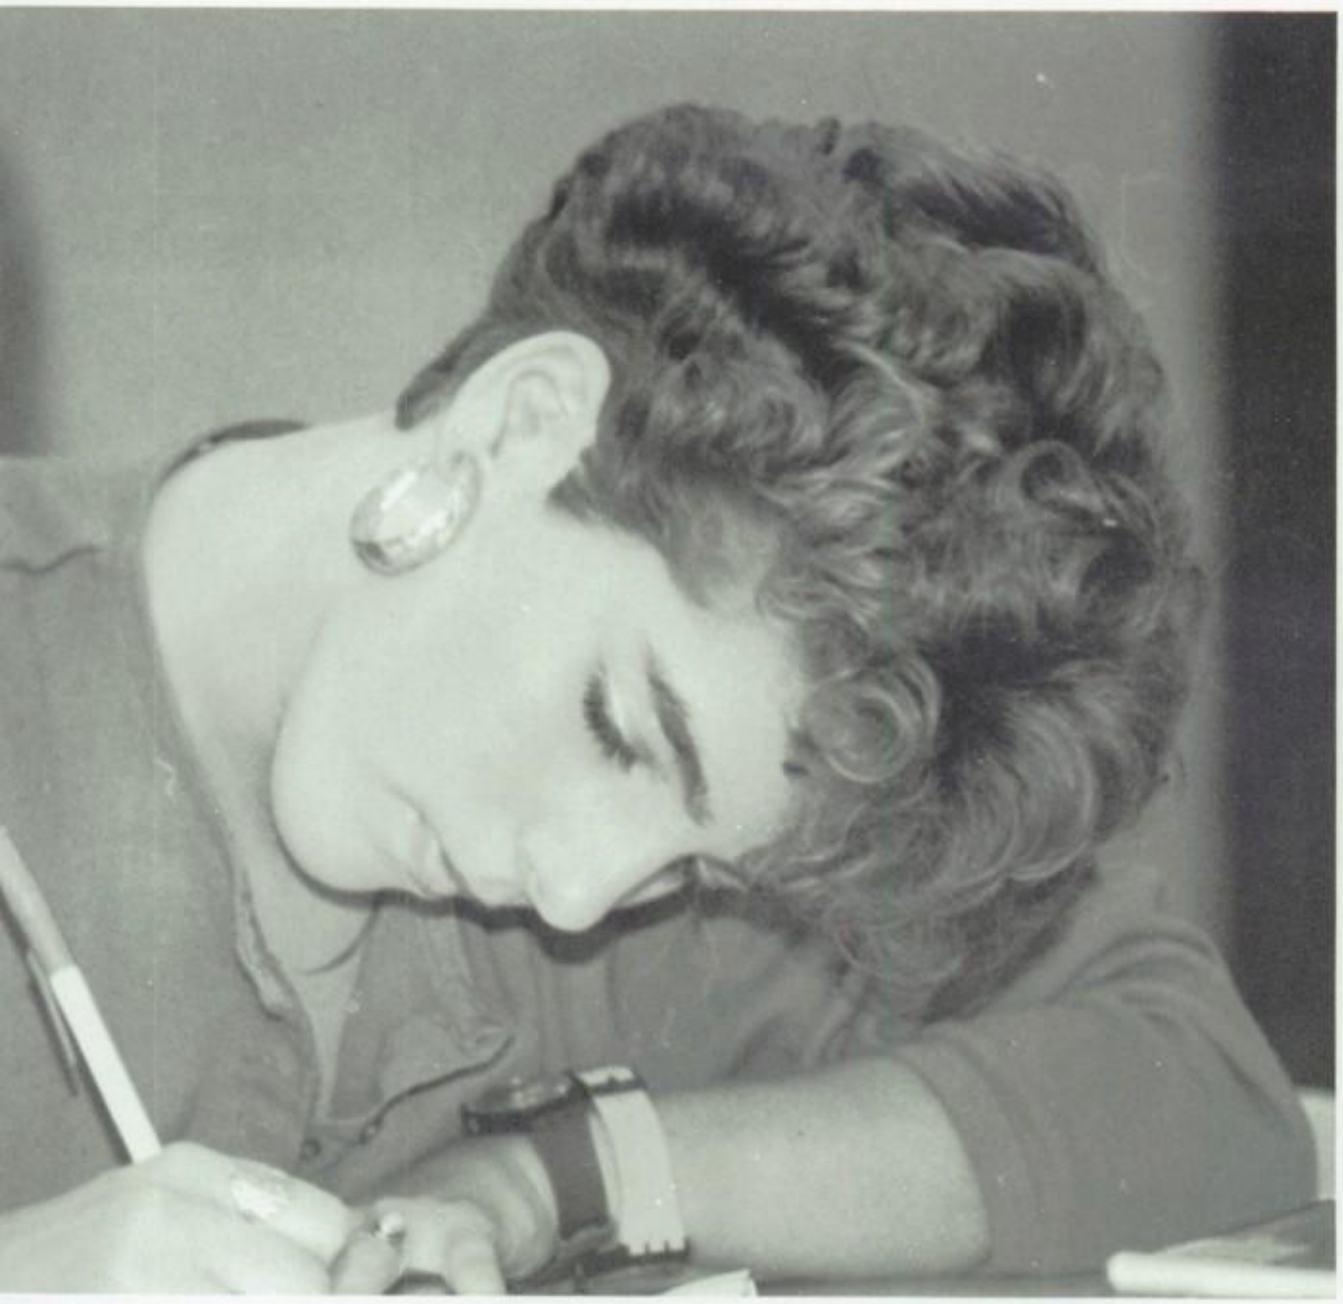
Looking confused, the class tries to comprehend what Mrs. Bernick just said.

Instead of doing English, Denise Francis decides to write a letter.



Taking time out to pose for the cameraman is Sandra Holt and Melisa Mills.

SENIOR CLASS ENDS REIGN IN STYLE

We, the class of '87, wanted to make this year our best. We did have our share of rough and disappointing times, but together we made the best of things. We started out well with the desire to earn the respect we wanted. We were especially proud to have finally won the SPIRIT STICK in our final year.

We have done a lot of growing up this year and preparing to face the future. It has been a time of deciding what the rest of our life will hold and the routes that we each will take. It will be a great adjustment leaving those whom we have known and leaned on for so many years. It will be hard to leave all of our high school years behind, but we will still have our memories that we can reflect back on. Some aspects we won't mind leaving behind such as Macbeth and the flies in the cafeteria.

HIGH SCHOOL FUN ENDS REAL LIFE BEGINS

All in all, we took each challenge that came our way and met it with all we had. This year will be one of our most memorable and when Mr. Lloyd hands us that piece of paper, we will know we have earned it.

June will be here soon enough and although at times we will be relieved, we will never forget the toughest part of growing up. Remember the friends and fun we've experienced and never let your warm hearts and shining smiles fade away. To the class of 1987 — Best Of Luck!!

For the class of 1988 this was the first year of being known as "upperclassmen." Along with this title came some additional fun and many more pressures not to include added responsibilities. We had fun picking out rings and showing them off to everyone. Raising lots of money to finance the Prom and planning for it were some of the exciting moments of our Junior Year. Along with this fun, however, came lots of hard work too. Buckling down to improve our grades and thinking about our collegiate choices, not to mention the dreaded SAT's, were among the most important subjects on our minds.

Through it all we worked hard and matured and are ready for what lies ahead, our Senior Year! Our class has earned the reputation of being one of the smartest and best to come through the high school in years. We certainly lived up to our reputation this year and must try to continue next year.

ON THE WAY TO THE TOP

What a relief! We the mighty class of 1989 have finally broken out of the mold of being Foolish Freshmen. It's amazing what a summer vacation can do for a class's image and outlook. With the help of our new sponsor, Mr. Scott Brown, the class of 1987 a run for their money. At the first pep rally we won the Spirit Stick. During the Homecoming activities in October we won the Spirit Chain. In the Christmas food drive, the sophomores kept up with the seniors the ent race.

There was also a lot of hard work and tryi times including Mrs. Wilson's daily World H tory notes and Mr. Childs' geometry homewo but through it all, we learned responsibility a friendships were made that will last a lifetim

JUST STARTING OUT

As our eighth grade year came to an end, we began to fantasize about going to the high school — the final years of school. We realized it wouldn't be fun to be a freshman but that didn't matter to us, we could deal with anything.

Then the school year began, we were laughed at, teased, and constantly put down. We were sent the long way to classes those first few days and even told the wrong classrooms. We realized quickly that we were no longer mighty eighth graders, but lowly freshmen. Maybe the high school wasn't as great as we thought.

It was definitely a big change. Instead of knowing everyone we knew no one. We had to deal with teachers who were floating, harder subjects, more social activities, and falling grades.

During the winter we sold key chains to raise money and sponsored our first dance. We also made new friends with the upperclassmen and renewed old friendships within the class.

Now as our freshman year comes to an end we think, ''Hey we made it!!! Maybe it wasn't so bad after all.'' We leave school once ag dreaming, this time of our sophomore year thinking of how we will tease those poor fr men next fall. Everyone needs a dose of humi upon entering high school.

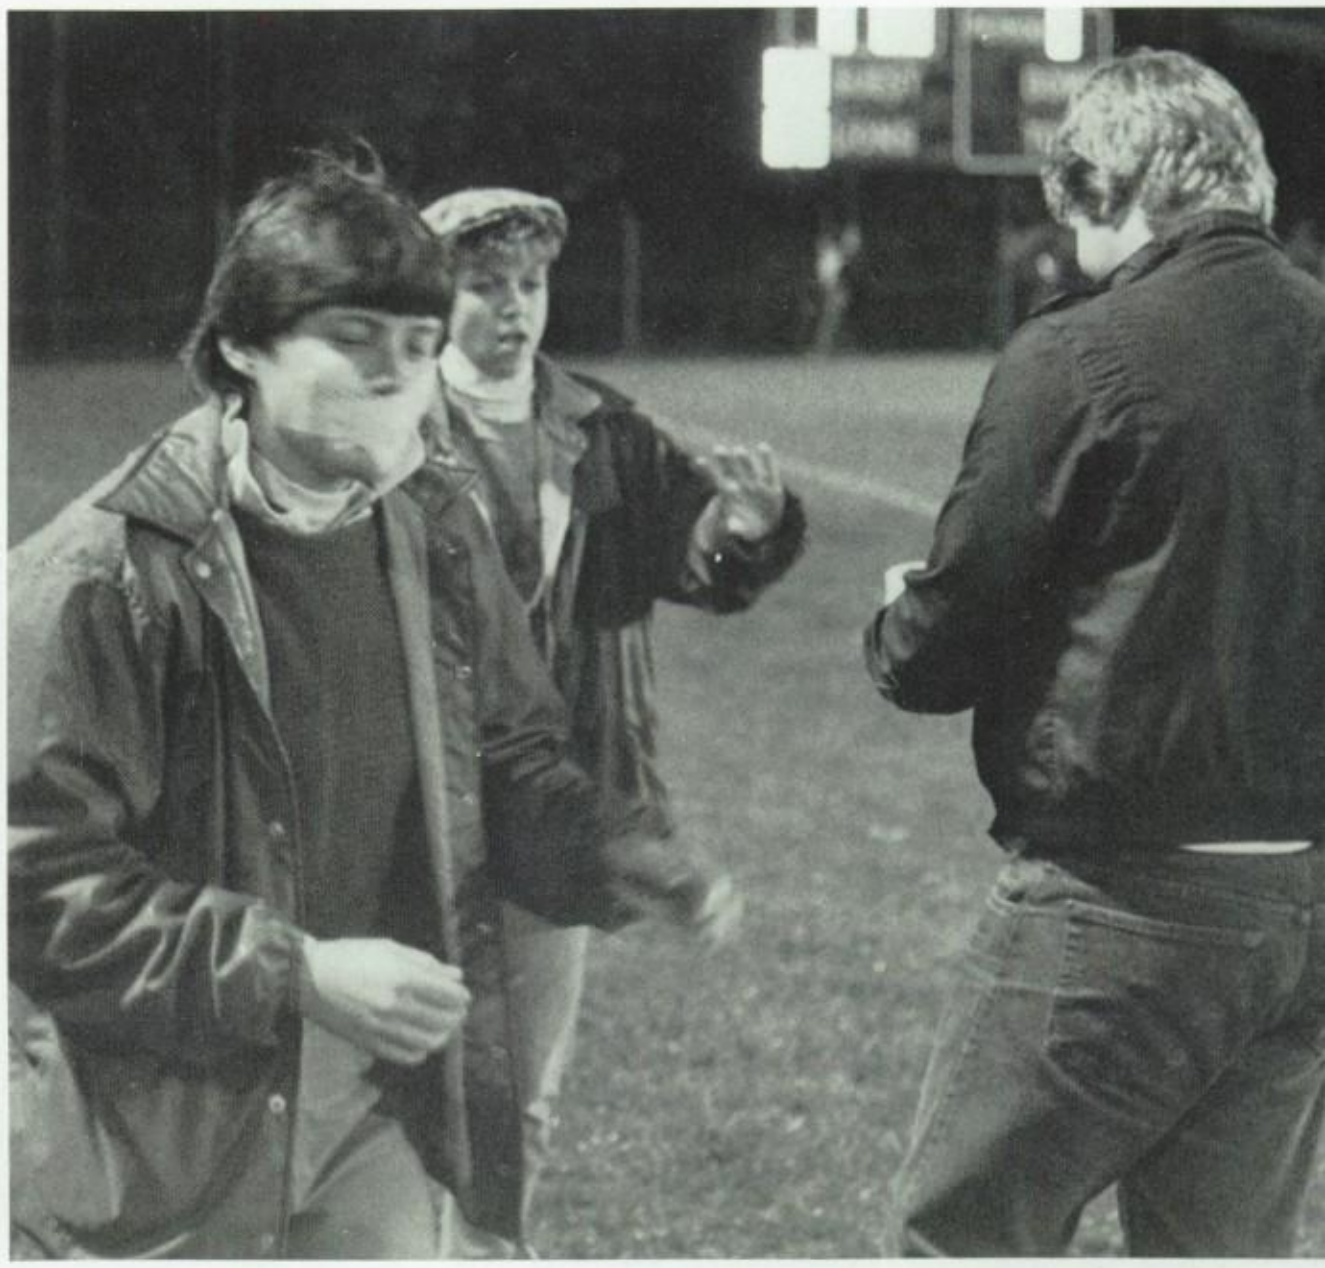
"Miss Harris, the lungs won't inflate!"

ON THE JOB ALL THE TIME

School administrators have anything but a behind-the-desk job. Mr. Garland Lloyd viewed his major job as Instructional Supervisor, observing teachers in action. Discipline and parent problems always popped up requiring his immediate attention. His right hand man, Mr. Gerald Patton, is always by his side ready to help out whenever he can, especially with the major problem of skipping class. Mr. Harry Nuckols is always ready to help and advise each and every student. Not to be forgotten is Mr. Sherman Shifflett, who is the Vocational Director and helps out the other administrators as well.

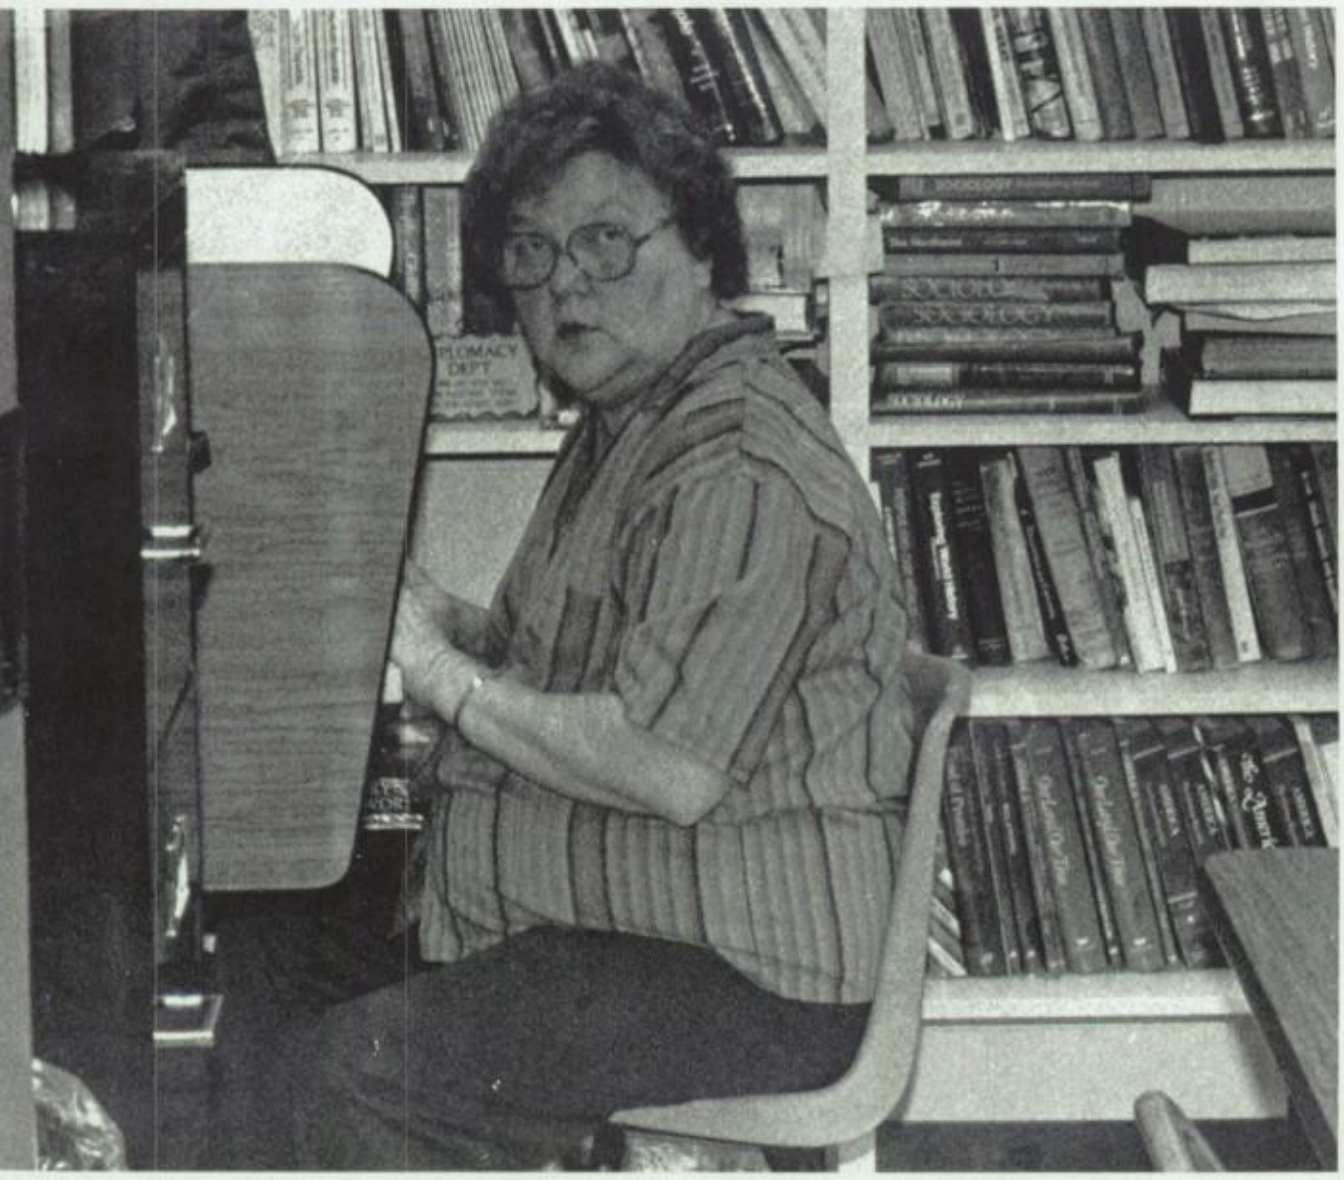
Not many students realize the significance of the Administrators. Their jobs is a tough one and the Administrators at Louisa do their job the best!



Now we know how to keep Ms. Harris quiet!

Getting into the holiday spirit, the faculty choir perform the students.

A TEACHER'S WORK IS NEVER DONE



aught typing her test at the last minute again, is Mrs. Hart no thinks, "Can't I ever get any peace and quiet?"

Vocational secretary, Mrs. Spaur thinks, "Oh, no here Roger comes with that blasted camera."

Caught reading a non-math magazine is Mr. Childs, enjoying a few minutes of relaxation.

Hats Off To

The Teachers. We never seem to give them the credit they deserve. Always on the go — at school early or staying late to help us, chaperoning dances, on courtyard or hall duty in the morning or on bus duty — these teachers never seem to stop.

Before they can actually begin to impart th knowledge on us, they must take roll, ch tardiness, make announcements, and settle students down.

A Great Faculty!

They aren't only educators, but friends as ell. They helped us mature and grow during the ear. Some helped us decide which college we ere best suited for or which career we would ke to pursue. Some chewed us out when we needed it and others were there to cheer us up when we were down. We usually don't show them how much they are appreciated and we should because they deserve it!!

True Dedication

The faculty and staff of Louisa High School are a dedicated group. Neither the elements nor a common cold can keep them from their appointed duties. But, boy do they like to see that snow start falling. They get just as excited as the students about the possibility of leaving early of spending an unscheduled day at home.

All in all, though, those who work at LC are the best there are anywhere. They are dedi ted to the bone.

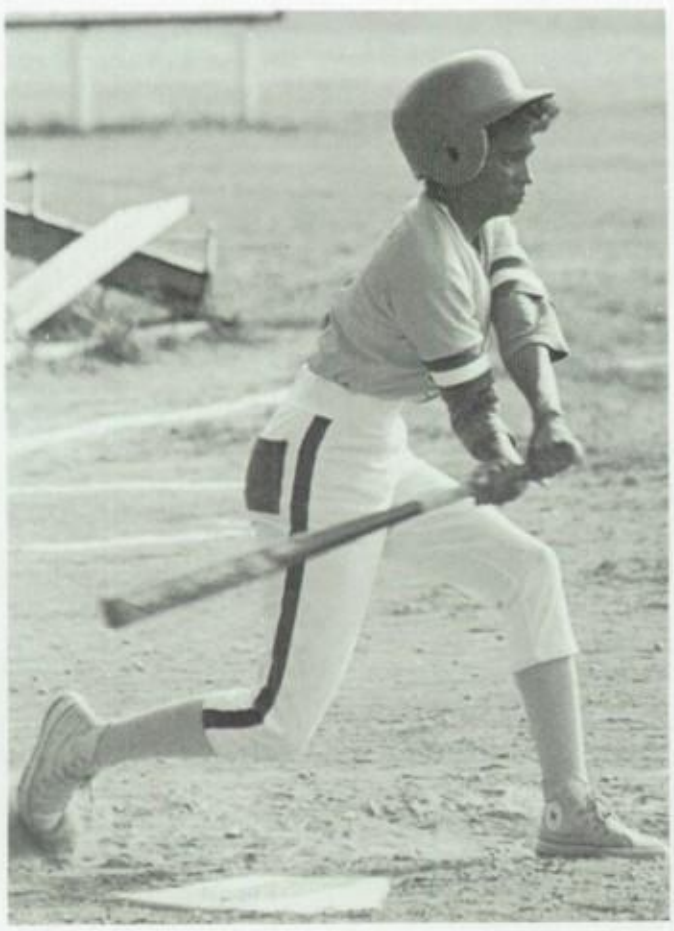
BRINGING HOME THE "GREEN AND GOLD"

Giving it all she's got, Tracey Perry swings with confidence.

Staring down the batter is an important strategy for first baseman Julie Lacy.

Concentrating on the ball, Gina Collins does it again.



I wonder who taught Julie Lacy how to slide like this?

Louisa's Varsity Softball team, being a girl's port, has always had to struggle to get things one. But in '86 they waved a red flag, having an utstanding season. Compiling a record of 19 nd 0, the team became Battlefield District Champs. The season was filled with hard ecisions and strategies. The hardest one being p to Coach Vonnie Colvin. She had the job of eciding who to put in what position and who not to start because every player had one or another hidden talent.

From start to finish there were ups and downs. But through all of the plays, attitudes, signals, and strategies the girls stuck together to bring home the "Green and Gold" 1986 District Champs banner, and represented Louisa by going to the Regional playoffs.

"LIGHTS DON'T MAKE THE CHAMPS"

The '86 Softball girls proved that even without the luxury of lights they couldn't be stopped. They roared like lions yet behaved like ladies when not in competition with the likes of Hornets, Yellow Jackets, Bulldogs, Knights, and Blue Devils. The girls were not intimidated. They played hard, with determination and guts, and showed the region that there were none better in the area than the Lady Lions of Louisa County.

Grit and spirit were terms used to describe the Varsity Softball team. They proved that they can hold their own with the best, and finishing the season with a record of 19 and 2, they left behind a legacy for the next group of players to continue.

The 1986 J.V. Softball Team had a respectble season ending with a 10-3 record. Many ew faces made up this team, but that didn't ean they couldn't prove themselves. All of ese girls pulled together to win, and kept their on pride even when they lost. Coached by Miss arbara Dandridge, these girls got used to tough iscipline so they were able to survive the grueling practices and exhausting games. Eighth graders made up a large part of the team with many of them starting. Nikki Jones, a newcomer to the team, hit 3 homeruns in her first season as a softball player. These young ladies showed that they are ready for Varsity and ready to follow in the Varsity's footsteps.

"LOUISA GOES THE DISTANCE"

Track Easy? Don't you believe it? These people ran until they saw spots and their spots ached. Running, endurance, and dedication produced a good year for the Varsity Track Teams. (Especially the Girls!)

With a 5-4 record and having to live up to the girls record the boys never gave up. Never too far behind their opponents, the boys put out their all at every meet. One highlight of the season was Bill Bentley topping the school pole vault record of thirteen feet. Taking a respectable fifth in the district, they traveled to regionals and took sixteenth. The boys competed at the State AA Championships and placed thirty-first.

"OFF AND RUNNING TO VICTORY"

The girls once again proved to be awesome d also showed that women can dominate the en. Winning by at least 30 points or more at ost of their meets, the girls chalked up a great cord 8-0. Once again the girls claimed first ace in the Battlefield District. The Girls arsity Track ran their regionals at Jayem, here they blew everyone away and took first ace in Region II.

Traveling to William and Mary for the State A Championships, they took home a well served fifth place. Shiela Trice placed second the 300M hurdles. While Tammy Payne, heila Trice, Monica Anderson, and Tawanda agland placed second in the relay. To prove eir power even more, Tanya Lawarence placed xth in the long jump.

"WATCH YOUR LIPS, GUYS"

The 1986 Louisa Lions' Baseball team took the field last spring facing a very challenging season. With only two starters returning from the 1985 District Championship team, the Lions were forced to field a young inexperienced team.

After struggling through the first third of the season with a 3-6 record the Lions turned themselves around and ended the season with a 10-8 record. That placed them in the top four in the district, earning them a berth in the Battlefield District Tournament, which was held in Louisa.

During the tournament Louisa knocked off regular season champs Orange in the first game and Courtland in the championship game. The team then advanced to regional play where they were deflated by Warren County in the first round. The team played hard all season and demonstrated that "Never say die" attitude they had come to be known by.

SWINGIN TO VICTORY

In 1986 the Lions baseball team once again proved they could hold their own with the best. After a disappointing start of the season, the Lions bounced back to end their season 10-8. They participated in the Battlefield District tournament, winning the championship, and participated in the Regional tournament.

The Lions fielded a young team with Mike Clark and Tony Davis as the only starters returning from the 1985 District Championship team. New team members included Fred Collins, Shawn Collins, Martin Agee, Bobby Hopkins, and Ernie Buckler. Mike Clark earned all-district honors from Louisa.

The success of last years baseball team can be attributed to a "Never say die attitude" and to the hard work the team displayed both on and off the field. They played a team sport as a team; no one felt as if they were better than the rest or that the team couldn't do without them.

Next years team should be powerful and deadly to its' opponents, since most of the team is young and will be returning for another victorious season.

"YOUNG PLAYERS GAIN EXPERIENCE"

With many of the old J.V. players moving to Varsity, the team started with many young players. These rookies practiced, practiced, and practiced, and it all paid off. They had a 6-6 record in the district, and 8-6 overall, which is pretty good for a bunch of rookies.

Led by David Robinson and his outstanding pitching, the team pulled together and worked hard. Helping David out with pitching were Matt Payne and Rex Seay. These young men were whipped into shape by Coach Norman Smith who did a fine job with a bunch of newcomers.

With many of the young men returning next year the boys look forward to a bigger and better season.

"TEAM HAS WINNING SEASON"

The 1986 Varsity Football team started out with a ferocious roar, winning their first three games. They then suffered a heartbreaking defeat against Spotsylvania. They were leading by twelve but Spotsy came back to win 28-18, handing them their first loss.

The 1986 Varsity Lions defeated Madison, James Monroe, Powhatan, Fluvanna, Goochland, and King George. They suffered losses to Spotsylvania, Orange, Culpeper, and Caroline. They ended the season 6-4. It was a successful season for both the coaches and players.

The team improved through the season and matured into an adaptable and respected group. The boys played hard, were dedicated to doing their best, and showed that they could hold their own with the best. They helped the Lions football program on the road to respectability among its peers.

The defense was rough and tough and did its best to stop the opposing teams' offenses while Louisa's own offense used a variety of plays and moves to get to its end zone.

"YOUNG TEAM ENJOYS SUCCESS"

A lot of hard work, both in the off-season and nce the season began, paid off in the form, of a ery successful season. The Lions compiled a 7- record and finished 5-1 in the Battlefield Dis- ict to tie for the J.V. District Championship. he J.V. Lions displayed the ability and attitude o become outstanding Varsity players of the fu- re. The baby Lions were coached by Norman Smith, Tommy Sharpe, and Scott Brown under the supervision of Coach Pace.

The team was led by a stingy defense that recorded three shutouts. The leaders of this unit were John Geer, Eddie Trice, and Stacey Harris. The offensive unit controlled the ball behind the blocking of Grant Verling, Wayne Sims, and Ellis Jackson. The Lions were fortunate to have a number of strong running backs headed by James Jones, Gerard Shelton, and Rico Smith.

The high point of the season was an exciting come back win over Caroline after the Lions had dropped behind 12-0 in the first quarter. The season closed with a home victory over Orange to complete a very enjoyable learning experience for players and coaches.

The team's trademarks, desire and determination, led to many victories. There were many highlight games during the season but two very important ones were a triple overtime over Orange and playing in the championship.

"Each girl contributed to the success of this year's team by either scoring, rebounding, or playing aggressive defense. Each worked hard, making that special commitment to practice daily when other students are on the way home."

SHOWING PRIDE AND RESPECTABILITY

What will next year's 1987-88 LCHS Varsity Basketball Team and the new 1987 Chevrolet commercials have in common? Their slogan, "The Pride is Back"! Lion's Pride, that is. No, the 1986-87 Varsity Lions did not have a winning record (5-16), but it was the best record in the last five years. Furthermore, the Lions accomplished their two major goals of bringing pride and respectability back to the program.

Gary Hines, in his first year as the Lions head coach, brought with him a winning background from West Palm Beach, Florida, and instilled a new philosophy into this year's squad which resulted in significant improvements both on the court and in the classroom. This was evident by the fact that the Lions placed three players on the All-Battlefield District Team — James Brax (Second Team) and Dennis Coles and Lyn Farmer (Honorable Mention) and three play on the school's honor roll — (Dennis Shelt Bradley Shelton and Alvin Shelton). Den Shelton received an additional honor of bec ing the school's first basketball All-Americar he was selected to the National Secondary E cation Council's Academic All-Americ Team.

Attendence was the highest in the past f years, signifying a major return of school a community interest, and with all five start returning from this year's squad, the future lo very bright for LCHS basketball.

REPEATING SUCCESS

Once again the JV basketball team upheld that famous Lion victory. The season came to an end and the young lions had a record of 13 wins and 7 losses. As a result of their hard work these talented young men placed third in the district.

It was a victory well deserved, these JV's stayed after school and practiced two hours each day for four months. They played in both home and away games even though it could mean not getting home until late.

The JV's have really stuck by each other this year. Players were often asked to give up uniforms when a starter or other essential player might not have one. This they did willingly and other things too. Arguments, dislikes, and all other problems were forgotten when on the court.

In their minds one thought only ran through . . . to WIN!!

Victory By A Pin

The 1987 Louisa High School Lion Grapplers ended their season on a superb note. The team, much improved from last year, finished with an 11-3 dual meet record. They hosted the first Louisa Invitation, finishing second. They also participated in the Orange quad meet.

In the District Tournament Louisa had eleven wrestlers from the team qualify for the Regional Tournament. Two wrestlers finished first in the District Tournament — Eric Dorn and Anthony Lanuzo. Four wrestlers finished in qualifying for the State meet held at JMU. Troy Painting finished the season with a fifth place in the state tournament.

Next year's team looks to be as successful with a majority of the team returning for another awesome season.

This year's Varsity Cheerleaders started out the best ever! They attended ICF camp at Hampden-Syndey College. They proudly brought home many ribbons which they had worked hard for. They were sharper and more unified than ever with their new cheers and stunts. These girls did a great job making pep rallies more spirited. They worked hard and together when there was problems. But with these problems they ended the year well. With the success of the football and basketball season's, there was finally something to cheer about. Being a cheerleader is a memory they will never forget.

"What are these girls up to now! Acting like pelicans standing on one leg?"

Let's get it together girls and make some noise down there!

SPIRIT'S JUST BEGINNING

This year's J.V. Cheerleaders really had things to cheer about. The J.V. football and basketball teams had great seasons and the cheerleaders were there to see it happen and cheer the teams to victory. They also had some rough times when several members dropped off; tryouts were reheld and three new members were added to the squad. It was hard at times to keep smiling and cheering but they managed to do it with grace.

In January they attended an ECA clinic and came in reserve in the competitions. They were also invited to the finals but were unable to attend. As the season ended, the girls were faced with the decision of either trying out for the Varsity or remaining with the J.V. Either way many memories remain along of dreams of the future.

SHARING THE NIGHT TOGETHER

As the morning of the prom arrived excitement filled the air. The boys hoped their parents would permit them to borrow the family car while the girls stretched their daily make-up routine from the normal one hour to four. After the embarrassment of parents taking lots of pictures, the pinning on of corsages, and eating in front of dates, everyone headed for the transformed cafeteria, dressed up like never before.

Guys in tuxedos and girls in fancy evening wear danced and swayed to the music. Between songs, the couples drifted into the hallway to have those memorable pictures taken and to catch their breaths from the last fast beat they just danced to.

As always, the highlight of the evening was the famed traditional "Senior Walk" where the class of 1986 took advantage of the final opportunity to be recognized as the "head class of Louisa County High School. As the dance came to an end and the couples went their separate ways they knew they had truly "Shared the Night Together." And the class of 1987 left thinking, "Will the junior class of 1987 be able to outdo this and make our senior prom as successful?"

The band provided music for an enjoyable evening everyone.

Spirit was displayed all during the week before Homecoming '86. Starting it off with "Backwards, Favorite Celebrity, Dress Up, and Green and Gold Days." This was followed by the usual Friday Pep Rally which helped build school spirit for that night's game. The class of '87 claimed the spirit stick while James Smith claimed the title of Homecoming King. Melissa Mills and Ducan Garnett were awarded the title "Most Spirited Students."

That Friday, a warm October night, the LIONS proved their power by crushing King George 48 to 13. At half time while the Lions were planning their strategy, Miss Chrissy Francis was crowned the 1986 Homecoming Queen. Pep Club, FFA, and Spanish floats were the winners of the Homecoming parade. Softball and SCA boosters gave away two Redskin tickets to a happy Tommy Talley.

After hours of carving pumpkins, mov ing hay bales, and harvesting corn the SCA cleared out the cafeteria to await tha special hour. Dancing to the music o "Sound Machine" and looking into thei dates eyes while candles flickered in the pumpkins, the couples knew it would be night to remember.

As the night came to an end mos couples didn't go straight home — they remained "Under the Harvest Moon."

LEARNING CAN BE FUN

A club with many bright and eager young faces is the FFA. This club ties back to the Agricultural classes and every year they sponsor a fruit sale.

Each year, in the spring, the FHA club marries off a senior Family Living couple. This club doesn't just learn "homemaking skills," they go outside to the community and offer their services to medical offices and the nursing home.

The Future Business Leaders of America are aspiring vocational students working toward the future. They center on correct parliamentary procedures and serving the community.

Preparing students to understand health care, is the HOSA club. This club works on the bloodmobile yearly and helps at medical offices and the nursing home.

There are two parts to the HERO division at LCHS. The food division manages the Lion's Pit, caters to the community and makes lunches for the staff. HERO Clothing teaches students fashion design and sponsors a fashion show.

The Spanish and French Clubs aimed at learning about each other's cultures. They had the Volleyball and Soccer competitions, both displayed floats in Homecoming, and they celebrated Mardi Gras together.

MAKING LIFE BETTER

Community service is what the next seven clubs strive for.

The Girls Athletic Association works hard to raise money for badly needed girls sports equipment. Whether it is working at the concession stand or picking trash up after the games, these girls work hard to serve the public and each other's sports.

Being selected for Varsity Club is something most male athletes strive for. Everyone knows the members because they display team medals on new club jackets.

One group which worked hard this year was the SCA. Sponsoring the Homecoming dance, they made a night to remember. Also at Christmas, they sponsored a very successful food drive for the needy.

Stopping drinking and driving was the goal of SADD members. Reminding us to stay alive with bulletin boards and posters, these people made us aware of the dangers of this crime.

A new club this year was the PEP Club. Cheering our teams and sponsoring buses to the games, these spirited enthusiasts really boosted school moral.

The future teachers sponsored the annual Student/Faculty Basketball game and the faculty Christmas party. This club, the SAE, showed us students and teachers can have fun together.

A TICKET TO CULTURE

Enriching the scholastic part of LCHS is what the Fine Arts and Publications organizations are about.

The band is steadily improving with their flashy uniforms. Adding to the look of the band are the flags, rifles, pop-poms, and majorettes. This year the music department had a new group — the Vocal Ensemble, under the direction of Mrs. Ann Porter.

Using their creative juices and their natural flair, the Art Club always displayed a variety of art for us to enjoy.

Also working hard were the Yearbook and Newspaper staffs. Paw Prints printed our informative school newspaper frequently and worked hard to come up with new ideas and angles. The Annual staff, with a new advisor, struggled this year to meet those dreaded deadlines. But thanks to all the help, the students had newspapers and a yearbook to remember the fun.

Even with a small number the Drama Club managed to put on its yearly production with great success.

The Chess Club taught students how to refine their concentration skills through entertainment and fun while the Art Honor Society recognized outstanding artists in the high school for their talent.

Janitors and Cafeteria workers are respected for their hard work and dedication. Without this we would not feel as if we had a clean, healthy environment in which to learn in. Even though we grew tiresome of pizza and french fries day after day, we still enjoyed their warm smiles that made us feel like we were at home. If anybody was upset or in need of talking to someone, Mrs. Houchens was always there to lend an ear. Without this team of helpful individuals school life would not be the same.

MANY CHOICES ARE AVAILABLE

Regardless of the types of classes we were enrolled in this year, we learned a lot from the LCHS curriculum. The academic students had to struggle through some tough classes. In science we worked hard learning chemical equivalents, the body parts of various creatures, or about motion. Math wasn't easy either, working to pass Mrs. Black's algebra II tests or Mr. Childs' ''quickie'' quizzes. We had to avoid ''death words'' in English and read lots of literature we weren't interested in. Most of us also had to learn a foreign language. But somehow we managed to survive by staying up late to put in some additional studying and giving that extra effort needed to keep our GPA's up to respectability.

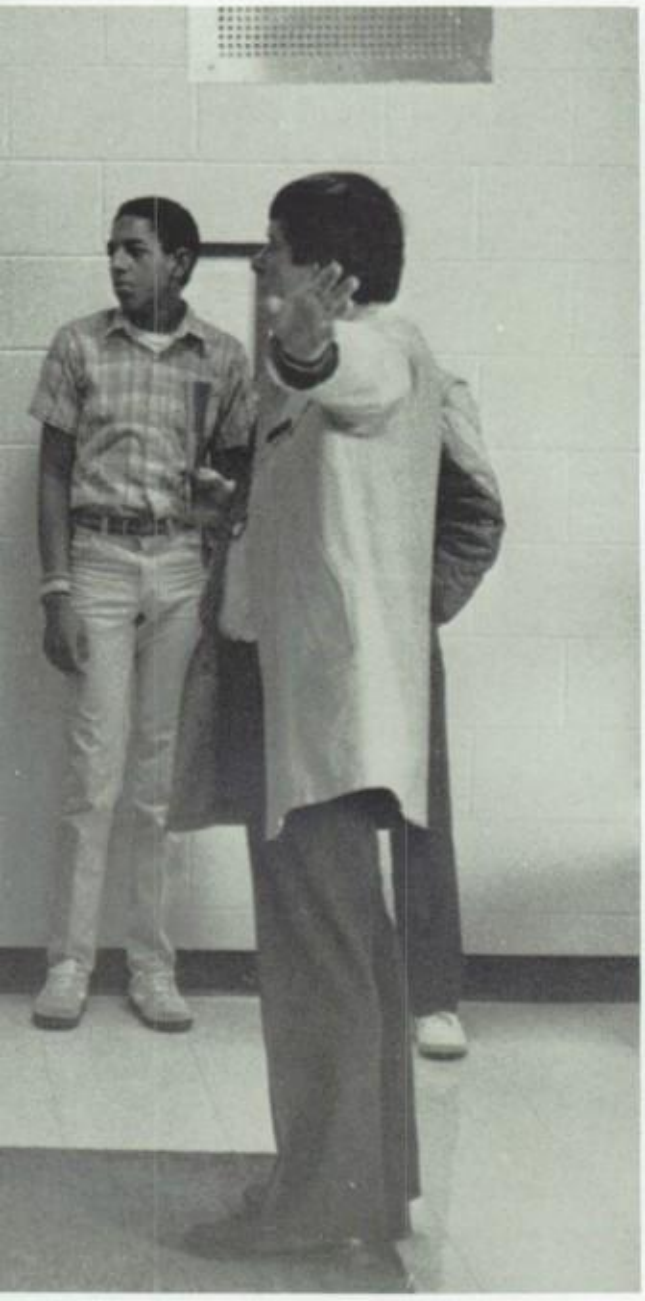
The Vocational Dept's Open House is a favorite activity for Mrs. Cutright.

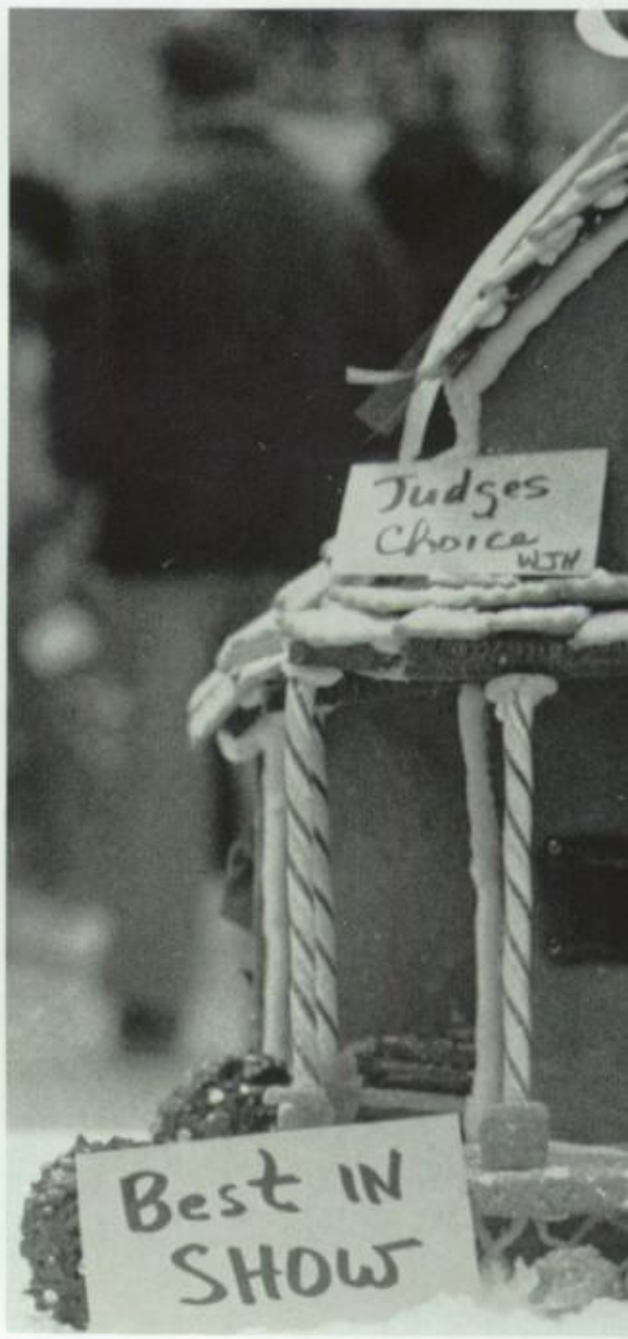


The Vocational students worked hard too. They typed fast and added lots of numbers in their clerical classes. Some cooked delicious meals without burning it or their fingers in the Lion's Pit. Students taking Home Ec. or Family Living learned about all aspects of the home. Those in the agricultural area learned all about flowers, trees, and nature. Others struggled through drafting, electricity, DECA, auto mechanics, upholstery, carpentry, and those dreaded computer classes.

The curriculum offered many opportunities to LCHS students during their stay here. But, no matter what type of program you chose — academic or vocational — you learned new skills this year.

The annual FFA fruit sale is an important part of December at LCHS.

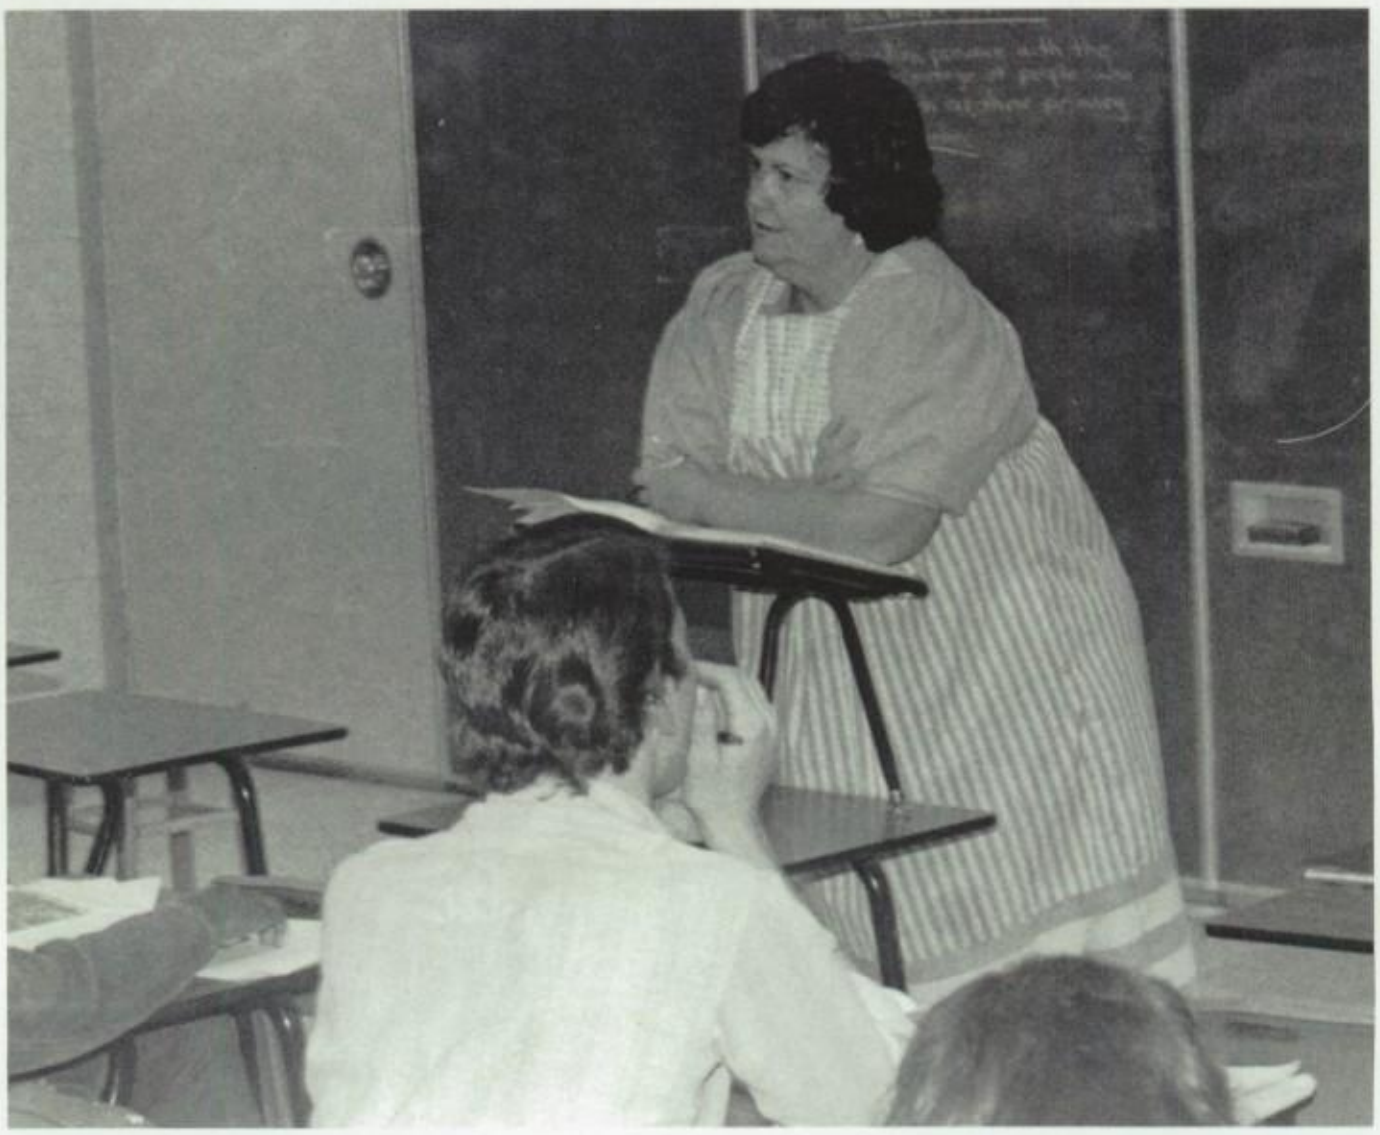
"Oh, no, she just ate a shingle off her gingerhouse house!"



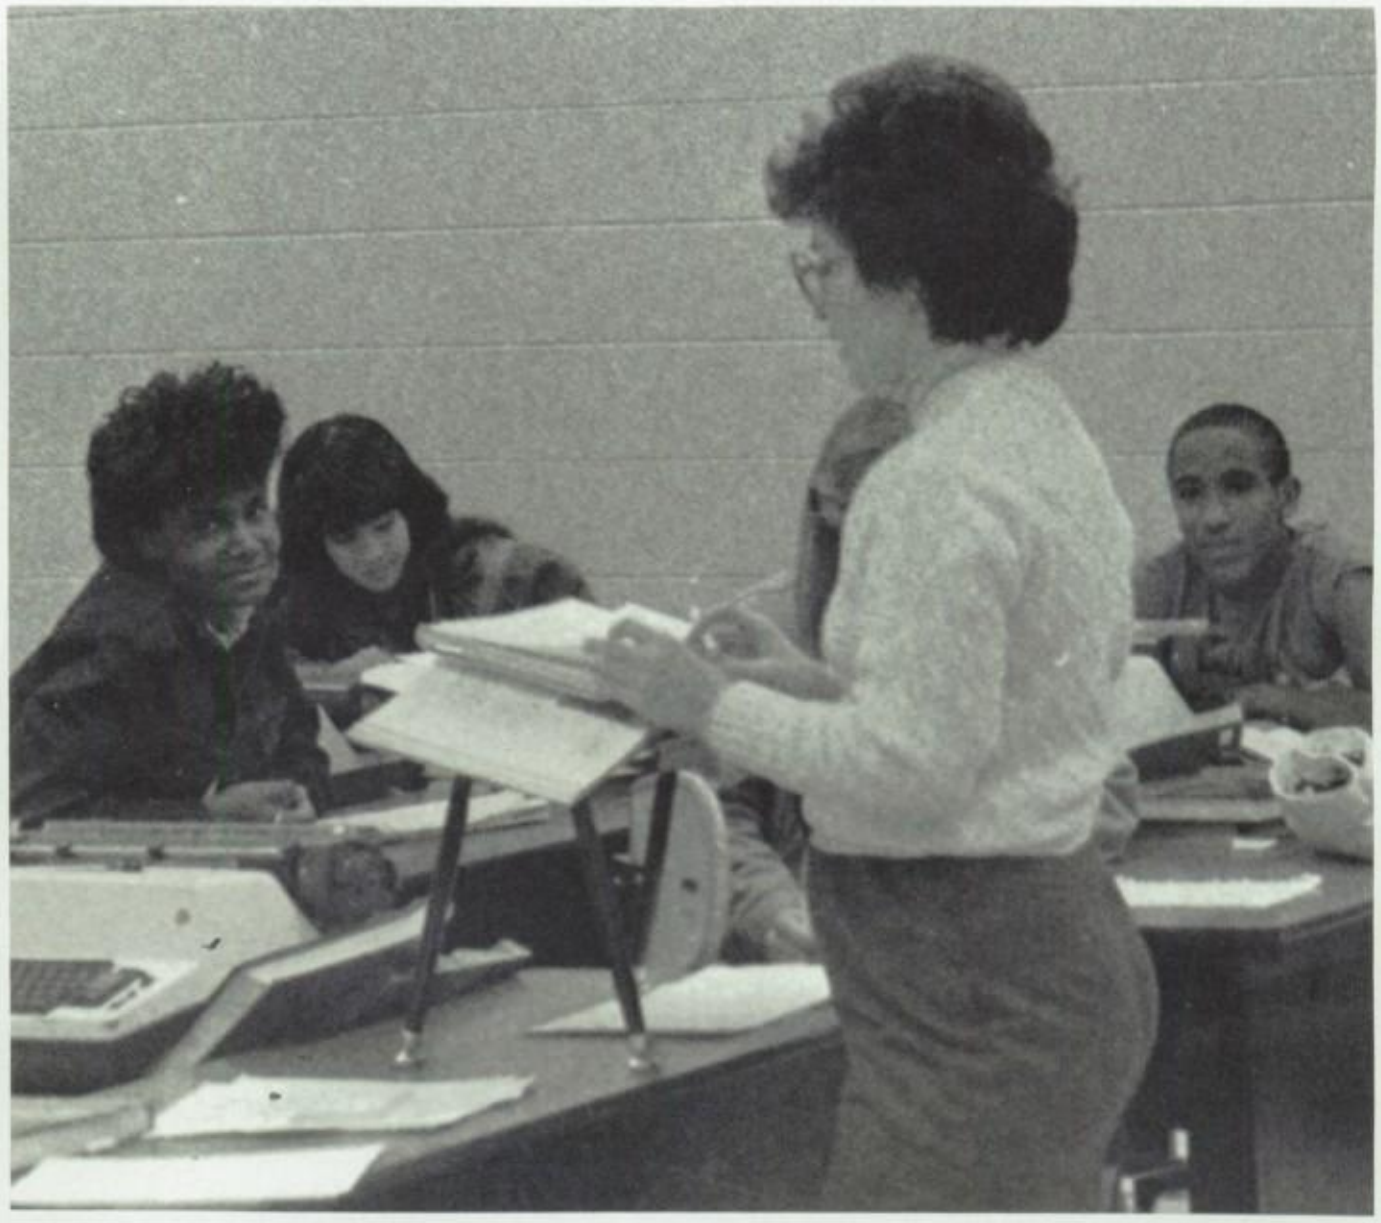
Are they in class or did we miss another toga party

NEVER A DULL MOMENT

ow!, what a luscious looking house and attached building, chele Anderson.



There's never a dull class in Mrs. Pat Wilson's classes.



See Miss Pippin, we still like to take your picture without you knowing it.

"CARING ABOUT PEOPLE MEANS INVOLVEMENT"

Virginia Power

Virginia Power has long recognized the importance of putting its customers first. This commitment to people makes possible Energy-Share, a fuel assistance partnership that helps needy individuals or families pay their winter heating bills.

It's a commitment to people that rallies thousands of Virginia Power employees to active involvement in community volunteer programs—from playground construction and Special Olympics for the handicapped to raising over $320,000 for the March of Dimes TeamWalk.

It's a concern for people which provides flexibility during periods of financial difficulty. Plus a helpful plan that alerts a friend if an aged or ill person's electric bill isn't paid.

And it's total involvement through Community Emergency Watch—employees specially trained to spot and report crimes and emergencies while on the job—helping to make our neighborhoods safer and better places to live.

VIRGINIA POWER

Bringing the facts to light.

Stay in touch with friends and family by sending smiles that last.

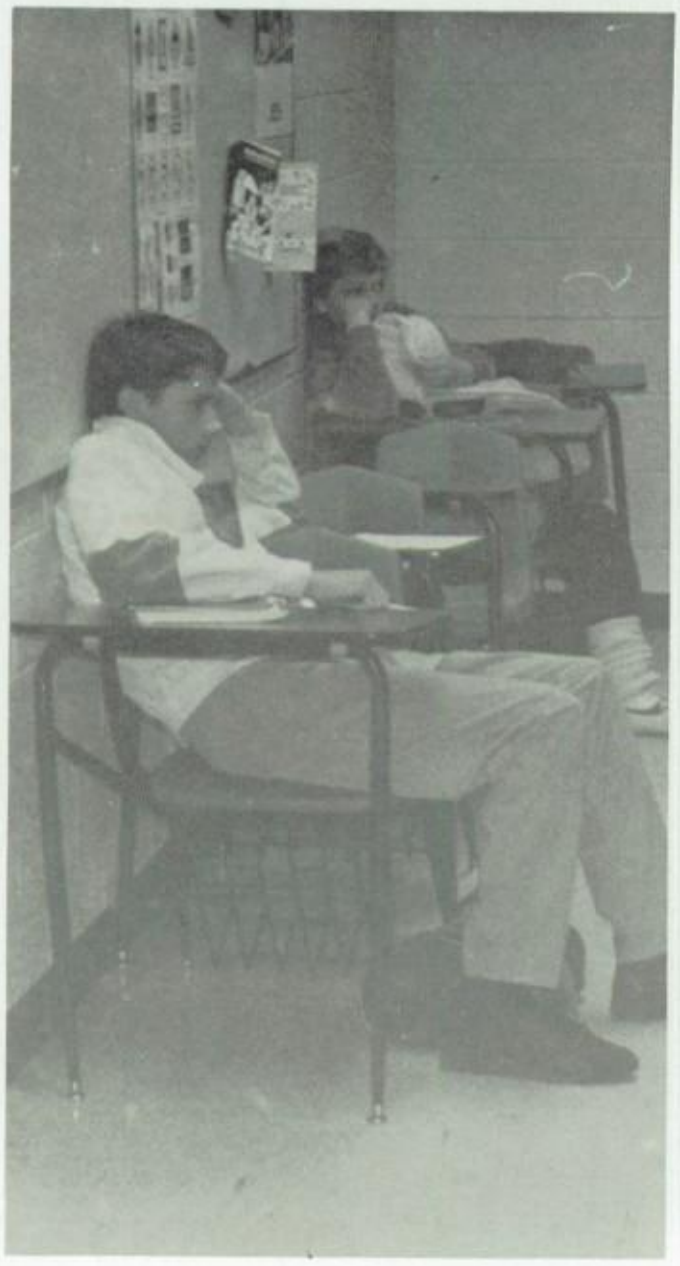
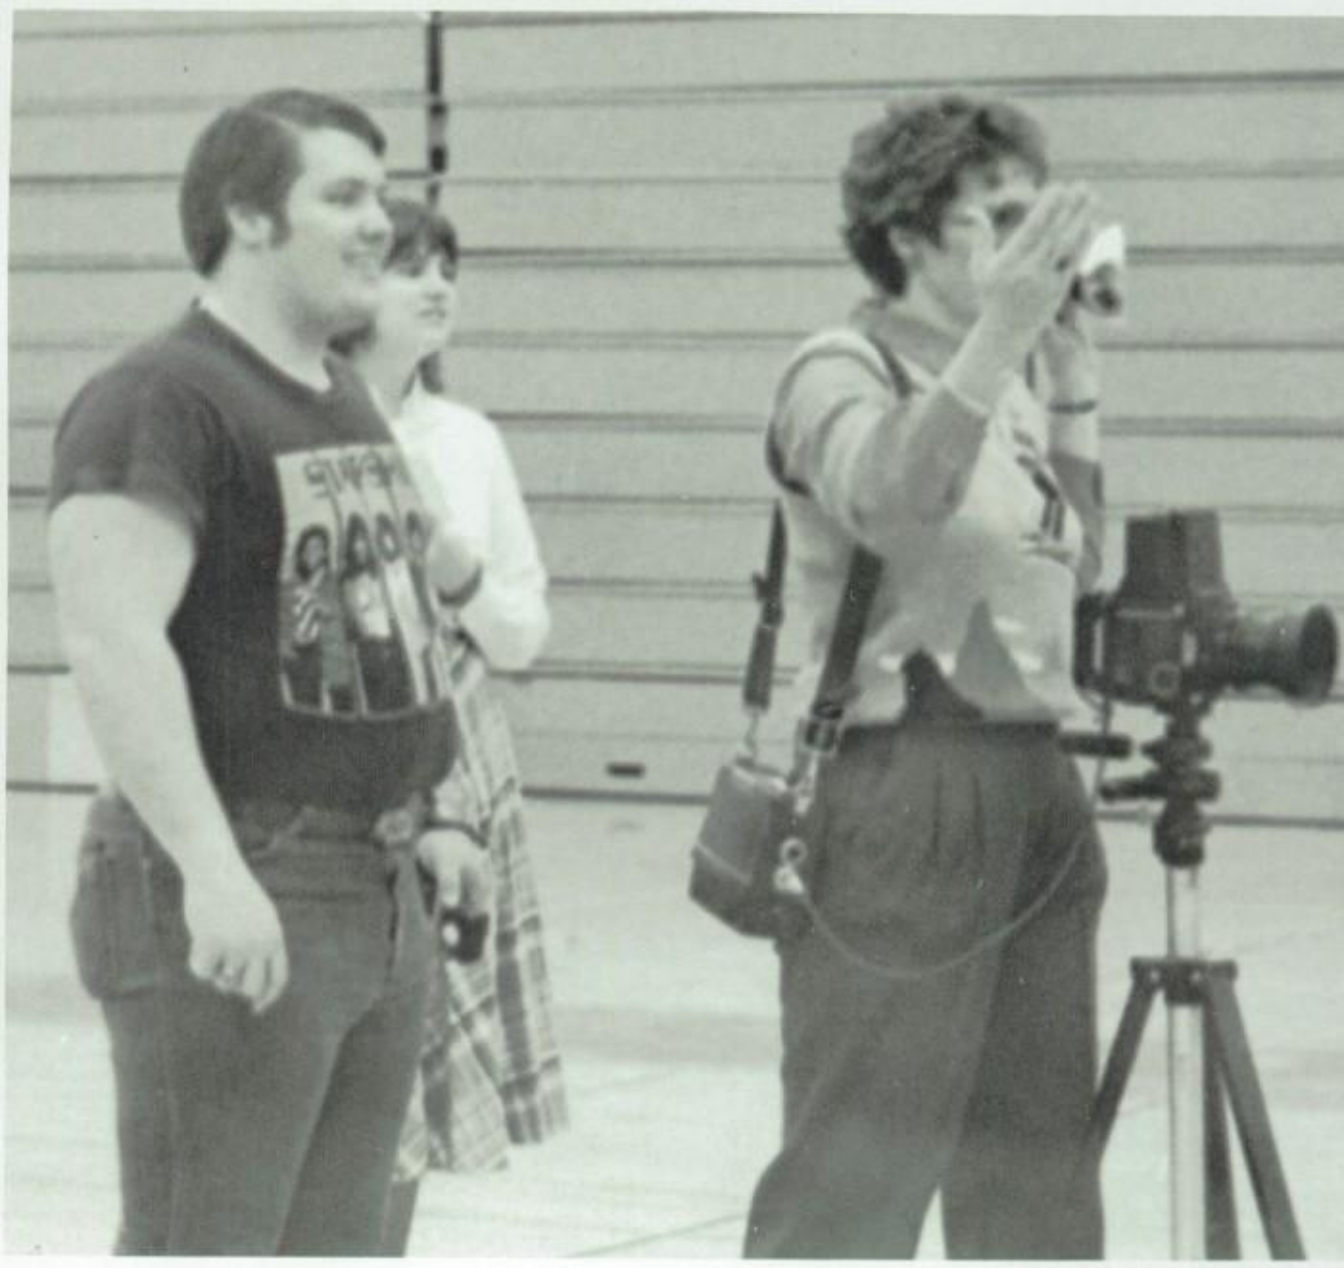
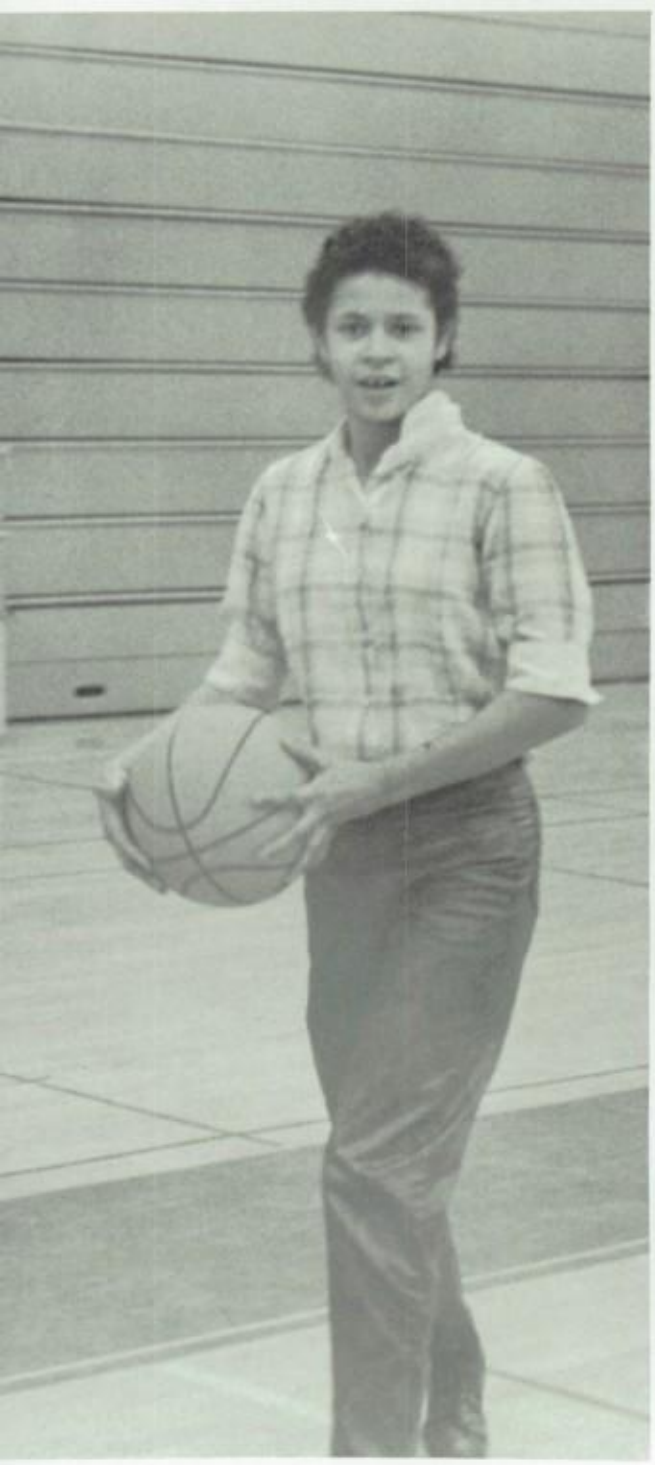
CURRICULUM







THE END IS NEAR

Where did the time go? Some of us have been together since first grade; others met a few year ago. We spent almost every minute of every day together in school. And if that wasn't enough, we found something to bring us together again on weekends.

Together we have experienced so many things. When we had sorrows we often refused any other help, except from our friends. "What do parents and teachers know?", we thought. These were precious days and each piece of advice or instruction came from the heart. As time passed we matured and grew. This helped us see that the faculty, parents and friends were all doing the same thing — caring.

COLOPHON

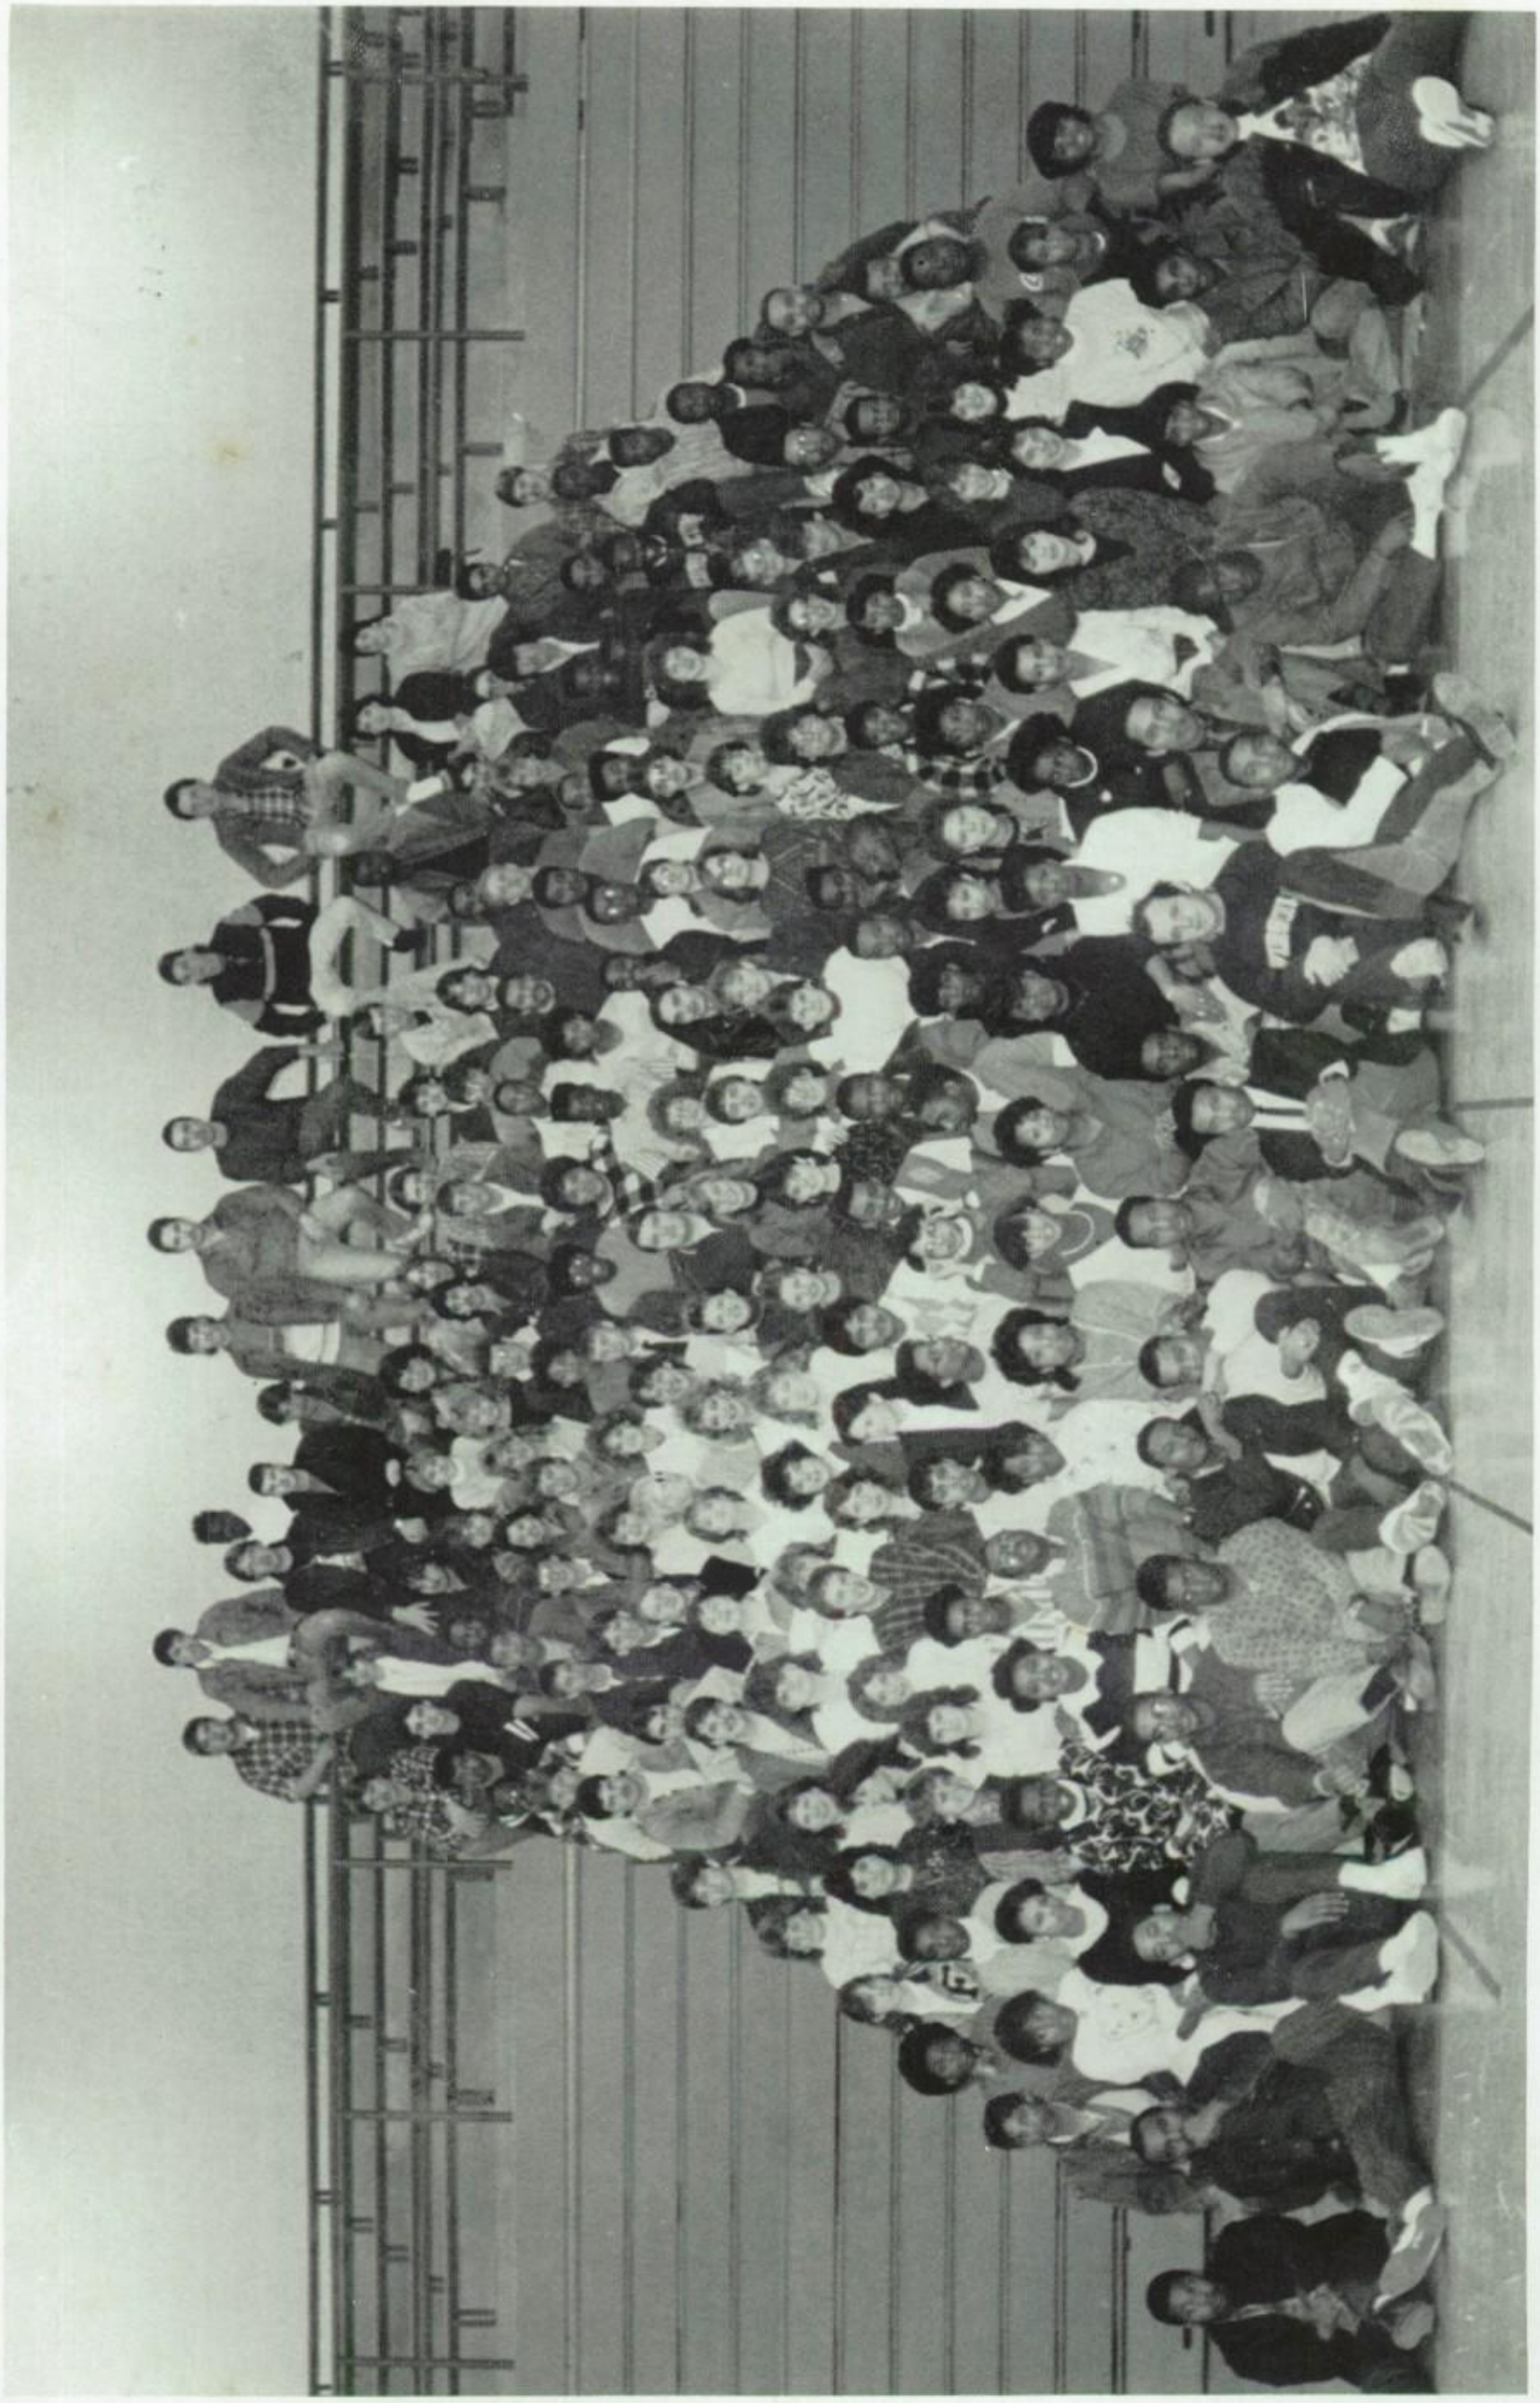
The 1987 Reflector was published by the Yearbook Staff of Louisa High School and printed by Hunter Publishing Company of Winston-Salem, North Carolina. This year we had a new advisor, Irene Luck and the company representative was Charlie Garrison.

The cover is a lexotone, Stock Cover #8, slate gray with 2 applied colors. PMS #200 Red was used for the title and spine. Senior names were in silver mylan. End-sheets are tinted.

The book is printed on #80 gloss enamel paper and ink color is black. Spot color was used on the dividers and throughout the book in PMS #200 Red.

The copy style is Times-Roman. Body copy is 12-point, captions 10-point, and identifications in 30-point caps and lower case.

Seniors and underclass portraits, group pictures, and some candids are by School Pictures, Inc. of Appomattox. Liz King and Janet Moses were the Company Representatives and photographers.

The Reflector is a member of the Virginia High School League.


Special Thanks should be extended to Ava Pippin, Beverly Gilman Harris, William Hinek, and Richard Lemery for all their help in advising and photography. Additionally, thanks are expressed to Mrs. Cathy Collins of the Central Virginian, staff and The Daily Progress, Mrs. Hollins, Mrs. Bailey, Miss Patton, Mrs. Spaur, and members of the administration, and faculty, and coaching staff. A special note of appreciation is extended to Mrs. Helen Goodwin for sharing her model office with us, and to our parents, and Irene Luck and Beverly Harris for their time, diligent efforts, understanding, and mostly patience. Without the help of these people, this book could never have been done.
